TWO GALLONS OF WHISKY
Revive the Drooping Spirits of Dr
Fourth Street Gang.

Bob Nightingale, of "Dr Fourth street gang," was fined $15 in the police court today for being drunk and disorderly. He with "Mickey" Henry and four others got a two-gallon jug of whisky and went to the home of Orlon Wats. Knowing the officer was away, and attempted to attract the attention of Mrs. Wats and Miss Wats. Officer Wats had given Ed Nightingale a soundounding for hanging about the place.

Officer Wats heard what was going on at his home. All the "boys" had gone except Nightingale who was too drunk to negotiate. Two gallons of whisky will "phase" even a Fourth street gangster. Nightingale was lying in the yard asleep. In this condition he was carried several blocks. The patrol wagon took him to the city prison.

A Journal reporter asked Captain Gish today why the fight was not stopped under the cruelty-to-animals ordinance.

"Because they are not animals," replied Gish. "Chickens are fowls, not animals. They could beat us in court if we arrested them and sue us for damages. If the council will give us an anti-cock-fighting ordinance we will enforce it."

Officers Russell and Whitside and one or two other policemen saw the fight and kept the crowd orderly.

Police can't stop a chicken fight for a remarkable reason.

Chicken fighting, a form of "sport" with all the low brutality but none of the merits of prize-fighting, can be held in Topeka without fear of police interference. There was such a fight in town last night in which fowls from St. Joe, Leavenworth and Topeka participated. The scene of the fight was the deserted brick building at the west approach to the viaduct on East Sixth street. Two hundred young men, most of them local talent, saw the series of nine fights. Topeka birds were victorious in six of them.

STEAD'S OPINION OF US.

He Doesn't See How We Preserve Our Goodness.

LAWRENCE, March 16.—Since his return to England, several interviews with Editor W. T. Stead have appeared. One of these interviews today quotes Mr. Stead as saying: "The Americans are a wonderful people; wonderful in nothing so much as that they preserve their inherited goodness in spite of the corruption reigning throughout."

Referring to the civic affairs of Chicago, Mr. Stead says that a large majority of the Chicago aldermen "are notorious scoundrels." But in spite of this assertion, Mr. Stead is quoted as adding: "But none but the most bigoted Tory could do otherwise than be dismayed at the existing conditions of affairs in America. If Lord Salisbury and his friends had England becoming too radical, they should emigrate to Illinois."

Time is worth everything. Delays are dangerous. No one can afford to run the risk of allowing a cough to develop into pneumonia, which is nearly always fatal.

Cold & Cough Cure is the only remedy that can be relied on to give quick relief and cure the cold.
